Town Offers Aid To "Do-It Yourself Homeowners"

The Town of Oyster Bay will assist do-it-yourself homeowners although Town officials do not encourage electrical buffets, according to Councilman Edmond A. Ocker, of Plainview. The New York Board of Fire Underwriters, Electrical Division, has assigned to the Town's office at 65 Broadway, Hicksville, a representative each Tuesday morning from 9:30 to 10:30 o'clock to meet with homeowners having electrical installation problems. Those who cannot go to the office in person may call the representative by telephone. The number is 822-3177. The Town Board, on motion of Councilman Ocker unanimously approved making office and dark space available to the representative.

The accommodation to homeowners was brought about by the complex forms which must be filled out. They are no problem to professional electricians but they are a maze to most homeowners. And the problem becomes pressing when the homeowner finds out that a certificate of occupancy will not, under law, be issued unless a certificate problem. The representative assigned under the new program will be an electrical inspector. He will try to help the homeowner to find out that an acceptable job is done and that the application is correctly filled out. The service will also assist electrical contractors working in the Town.

Councilman Ocker said, "This additional service to homeowners has been brought about by the work of the Board Building Department and its Manager, Edward J. Gaynor. They have spent a great deal of time and effort in bringing about this service to the people and I feel that it will be a huge success and will be appreciated by homeowners who will be involved."

Town Amends Law To Protect Licensed Bingo Games

The interests of philanthropic organizations will be better protected against erosion of their prestige through a series of proposed changes in the law as a result of amendments to the bingo ordinance recently enacted, according to County Legislator Ralph J. DiMasso, Chairman of the Bingo Committee on Local Government.

Under the amended law, only licensed bingo organizations are permitted to lease a hall for the purpose of playing the game per day session unless a higher amount is authorized by the State Bingo Control Commission.

The new town amendments provide penalties to be established on a percentage of receipts or profits and requires licenses to be issued annually only from licensees licensed by the State Commission.

In order to prosecute violators of other ordinances, he said, the Town Attorney must first file a complaint in District Court. Then the Court issues a summons to investigate and a hearing is held. If, at the hearing, the Court finds sufficient evidence to warrant action, the Town Attorney is then authorized to commence an action.

Petito said that at the present time only Town Day Park has the right to issue summonses for Town Ordinance violations.

The Building Department reported that 1965 was the best year, he said, permits were granted for eight industrial buildings at a construction value of $1,072,228. The volume of industrial building activity was third largest between 1964, July held with 11 buildings valued at $2,416,872 and June was second with 14 buildings, $1,900,161.

Town Clerk William B. Krodman, speaking at the hearings, said that the amendments serve to improve the protection offered residents of the county from bingo's popularity.

"There are so many bingo games in town. Among those to be enforced are the following new provisions of the amended bingo law, " he said.

"First of all, the amended law says that only a peace officer, a sheriff, or a deputy sheriff can serve a warrant for the violations of the amended law. Second, if it was not legal for such Town employees to issue summonses against anti-litter and Sanitation laws, they are not too costly to prosecute them. Third, it is not only difficult but most often too costly to prosecute those who regularly disregard the law.

"A Town should have on-hand the following powers, " Petito said, "If present State law says that only a peace officer can serve a warrant, then we must try to change the law,"

Town Building Up in December

The building department reported that 38 one-family and 84 multi-family units were built in town with a value of $1,868,980 in November and $1,966,242 in October.

Files of New Application for Federal Aid

The Plainedge Public Library Trustees filed their Plainedge application for federal aid for the construction of the new Library building. It is expected that if official concurrence is received, it will be forwarded from the State Library in Albany, and then sent to the library according to a legal form. If the grant is approved, the Plainedge Library will receive $275,785 toward the construction and site acquisition costs of the proposed public library which was approved by the voters on October 22.

Town Must Find Modern Method For Enforcing Ordinances

Stating that the present method of enforcing Oyster Bay Town ordinances is "archaic," Su­ pervisor Michael N. Petito this week asked the Town Attorney to investigate the legality of a Local Law which would give Town Building Inspectors, Park De­ partment Employees involved in anti-litter inspection duties, Sanitation Department inspection division employees, Bay Wardens North and South Shore Beach Managers and Public Works and Highway Superintendents the right to enforce the necessary powers to enforce anti-litter and Sanitation laws concerning badly littered empty lots and debris blowing into yards.

The people of Nassau County have been hit by a steady barrage of rising taxes this year. In a few days the 90th Congress will open and one of the most important questions facing it will be the question of new Federal taxes.

President Johnson must make this decision. He has kept his thinking a closely guarded secret, although his spokesmen have been talking for and against a tax increase, with apparent Presidential blessing.

The President must speak out in his State of the Union message, although his spokesmen have been talking for and against a tax increase, with apparent Presidential blessing.

The President will ask for new taxes. I would figure the amount will be about $5 Billion. By keeping the amount to this figure the President can avoid a general income tax increase, which is very unpopular, and politically explosive.

I believe the President will recommend either a special excise tax, and excess profits tax or some burst. He will then be able to label this a special war tax. He can describe it as temporary. He will want to fight the war in Vietnam.

This is not likely to please the American people. They know that "temporary" taxes become permanent. They also know that $5 Billion is only a small part of the cost of the war in Vietnam.

The President's recent statement that he is going to continue to fight "both" wars and budget aid is not reassuring to the American taxpayers. It means that the "Great American luxury" spending will continue unabated. I will not vote to raise taxes to pay for this. We just must cut spending and account as responsible as a nation at war.

No matter what the President labels the tax--such as a "wars" tax, it will also be used to finance our Federal spending at home. Without domestic spending cuts it will be known as the "Johnson tax" to me.

The "Johnson tax" will rightly--be most unpopular with the American people.

President Johnson must make this decision. He has kept his thinking a closely guarded secret, although his spokesmen have been talking for and against a tax increase, with apparent Presidential blessing.

The President must speak out in his State of the Union message, although his spokesmen have been talking for and against a tax increase, with apparent Presidential blessing.

The President will ask for new taxes. I would figure the amount will be about $5 Billion. By keeping the amount to this figure the President can avoid a general income tax increase, which is very unpopular, and politically explosive.

I believe the President will recommend either a special excise tax, and excess profits tax or some burst. He will then be able to label this a special war tax. He can describe it as temporary. He will want to fight the war in Vietnam.

This is not likely to please the American people. They know that "temporary" taxes become permanent. They also know that $5 Billion is only a small part of the cost of the war in Vietnam.

The President's recent statement that he is going to continue to fight "both" wars and budget aid is not reassuring to the American taxpayers. It means that the "Great American luxury" spending will continue unabated. I will not vote to raise taxes to pay for this. We just must cut spending and account as responsible as a nation at war.

No matter what the President labels the tax--such as a "wars" tax, it will also be used to finance our Federal spending at home. Without domestic spending cuts it will be known as the "Johnson tax" to me.

The "Johnson tax" will rightly--be most unpopular with the American people.
